DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal language "means" in line 3. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 10-12 - are improper dependent claims because claim 10 depends from itself thereby making the metes and bounds of the claim indefinite.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification does not describe or define what is a "come hither" movement. Such a movement is not generally known in the medical arts.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, and 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bradley(4,002,164).

Claim 1 - the curved portion is shown generally at -30-, the straight portion is located between handle -62- and the curve of -30-, and mechanical means - 50- and -18-.

Claims 2, 5, and 6 - it is the examiner's position that the movement shown in figure 1 is arcuate, extending (when moving from a curved position to a straight position) and "come hither".

Claim 7 - is directed to an intended use of the device and does not further limit the structure of the device.

Claim 8 - the straight portion defined above is coextensive with portion - 28- of the curved portion.

Claims 1, 4, and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Bakunin et al(3,504,665). Element -28 is an exciter that is inserted into the vagina and element -32- is a clitoral stimulator. The mechanical means are set forth in the handle shown in Figures 1 and 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bakunin et al (3,504,665) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Tsai (6,190,307). Bakunin et al teaches a stimulation device as claimed which imparts oscillating motion to the stimulation device. A circular motion is not taught. Tsai teaches a stimulation device having both internal and external stimulation components which can be driven in a circular motion, applicant's attention is invited to figure 5 and the related written description. In the absence of showing any criticality in the type of motion selected for stimulation it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to select any known type of motion as an ordinary design expedient. In this case it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to use the circular rotation taught by Tsai in place of the oscillating motion taught by Bakunin et al.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patents 5,853,362; 6,132,366; 5,690,603; and a one page copy of the cover and page 2 of a "Good Vibrations" catalog from Summer 1997. These references teach related sexual stimulation devices.
